

Subscription Information

Here is the great deal on my Subscriber service. You get at least 15 letters a year with one or two recommendations in each. I only concentrate on one or two because I want to give you adequate info to feel comfortable before you invest. As well I look for just the cream of the crop, the stocks I feel have strong odds to obtain our goal for several hundred percent gains. I follow all picks closely until we take our first profits to get at least our seed capital back and then I still provide updates on the next level to take profits. You will actually receive more email updates on past stocks and market conditions than new recommendations and as necessary. You will receive any special reports before they are posted on my website.

Model Portfolio - included with a subscription is a planned allocation we make each year and often changing through the year depending on market conditions. This gives you an idea how to allocate your entire portfolio in bonds, cash, ETFs, hedges, precious metals, newsletter stock selections and in the Millennium Index of dividend stocks.

Millennium Index - a subscription includes updates and changes in this index that I created for subscribers to diversify some of their portfolio into high quality dividend stocks. It is made up of 12 to 16 stocks with additions and deletions each year.

As a first time subscriber, you can sign up on our introductory offer of only $199.00 per year ($189US). You can make many times this yearly subscription price on just one of my picks.

As a free bonus you will receive the following special reports Naked Shorting Uncovered and 2009 Market Outlook

Technology Stocks

Coverage of Tech Stocks started in late 1997 originally called 'RSA Hot Technology Stocks and later the Future Tech Report'. This was to diversify and help gain some profits as the resource sector went through a severe bear market. The tech picks are new emerging technologies that will be the leaders in their field. The number of tech picks has been reduced in the past several years to about 2 or 3 tech stocks selected each year. We sold out of tech stocks in 2008, but plan to add some back in when the current bear market gets closer to a bottom. The newsletter also covers special situations such as takeover targets, options and generally more speculative plays.

My goal for the subscriber service, is to help you make money and keep you as a long time subscriber. If for any reason you are not happy with the service in the first 3 months, just say so and we will promptly give you a full refund. After 3 months the refund will be prorated. I am confident you will be happy as my current clients are.

The lifetime subscription is good for as long as I am alive and able to write the newsletter. It does have a 3 year guarantee and you will get a prorated refund, if for some reason I am unable to continue with the newsletter for 3 years from the date you choose this option.
